PRICES CAN BE CONTROLLED BY FARMERS

Some Timely Remarks on a Subject Important to All Farmers.

To all people who are interested in accomplishing the first great object of the society, viz: To secure profitable price for all farm products. If we were to conclude that we had the tobacco situation under control, we, as Kentucky farmers, are a long way from the full realization of the above named objects, as we are interested in so many different crops, and especially in view of the condition of the hog market in the last twelve months as compared to the price of corn. It should certainly stir us to earnest efforts to control the price of hogs. I dare say the farmers have lost more than enough in the last year on hogs alone to defray the expenses of organizing and putting themselves in position to wonderfully influence if not control the price of nearly every product of the farms of our entire county. Then add to the loss on hogs and loss on cattle and wool, to say nothing of the many minor losses from which we have suffered, all because of the lack of thorough organization and co-operation among our people as a means through which our people are to be educated in the science of price making among farmers and by farmers upon their own products and controlled marketing as a means of maintaining the prices when fixed. In view of the above cited facts everyone must see that this great cause is yet in its infancy and we are really just beginning to enjoy the benefits of co-operation. Now brother farmers, why will we trifle with a matter that means so much, yes we might say means everything to our people? Enough has already been accomplished to demonstrate beyond doubt that we can accomplish all the objects of our great Society if we will but be earnest, honest, courageous and persistent.

One of the greatest and most pressing needs of the hour is a stronger and more thorough organization, a laying aside of all trifling differences that may tend to hinder complete co-operation. Call all Local Unions together, renew our covenants with one another, resolve that we will not allow ourselves to be cheated out of the great victories that are easily within our reach, the fruits of which we could so richly enjoy which are the fruits of our just share of the fruits of our labor which would mean better homes, better education for our children, decent roads for the county at large, the raising of the standard of our people financially, socially, morally, intellectually and otherwise, in short it means peace, happiness and prosperity for our country.

An organization capable of accomplishing these greatly to be desired results must have the support of the people financially. It cannot be maintained without said support.

Therefore, Bro. Farmers we want to appeal to you to see that the little pittance of $1.50, the amount of your annual dues, is paid as soon as possible, as the state and National unions need the money to push forward the work of organization. This is the logical time of year to do said work while the farmers are not so busy with their farm work. We should take advantage of our opportunity to prepare to take care of the marketing of our crops before another calamity in the way of low prices is upon us. Also the most of the tobacco controlled by the society is sold and the people are delivering and therefore have the ready money to pay these little expenses, which by the way is not a tax but an investment that will return to them more than the same amount placed anywhere else. There is much yet to be done. Then let us all get busy in an effort to stir up the careless in our own ranks, enlarge our membership. Let the strongly organized sections help the weak or unorganized communities. This is the real spirit of co-operation.

Whatever may be our views in regard to handling the tobacco question we cannot afford to let our local unions go down. That is our local school and the real basis for co-operation. We need the local organization in all our efforts, as an economic means of accomplishing our objects. When the voice of the people is wanted on any matter this is the logical place to get it from the local unions. We cannot afford to throw away the great benefits that it is possible for us to secure in co-operative marketing of other crops because we imagine we differ in regard to how to control the tobacco situation. Don't let our prejudices run away with our better judgment, to the great injury of all.

Magistrate Sold the County Locust Posts.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 2.—Governor Willson this morning pardoned Sam B. Campbell, of Washington county. Campbell, who is a Magistrate, was indicted for the offense of being interested in a contract to furnish locust post for a county bridge. The fine for such an offense is from $500 to $5,000. The evidence before the Governor showed that Campbell was not guilty of any wrong whatever. The locust posts were needed and no offer of less than $100 to furnish them was received by the Court. Campbell said that was too high as he had posts on his farm that he would sell for $50, but he would not like to do so, as he was a member of the Court. He was assured by the County Judge and County Attorney that there could be no harm in it, especially as he was saving the county $50. He then furnished the posts and was indicted for this technical violation of the law.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

Rebbers blew open the safe of the Olpe State Bank, at Olpe, Kan., and secured $2,000.

The Atlantic battleship fleet under Rear Admiral Sperry has sailed from Manila. The next port of call is Colombo, Ceylon.

Indications are that there will be a clash between miners and anthracite coal operators when the present agreement expires on April 1.

Controller of the Currency Murray has issued a call on national banks for a statement of their condition at the close of business November 27.

A cablegram from Che Foo, China, says that two Japanese steamships collided off that port and it is believed that 700 persons were drowned.

The La Fayette Trust Company, a re-organization of the Jenkins Trust Company of Brooklyn, which went down in the financial panic of a year ago has closed its doors.

Mme Steinheil will be examined today by Magistrate Andre at Paris and it is expected that there will be some interesting developments in the now famous mystery.

Attorneys for Ray Lamphere have appealed his case to the Indiana Supreme Court. Lamphere was convicted of arson the case growing out of the Guinness tragedies at Laport, Ind.

The recent rains have made it possible for tobacco to be prized and the members of the Burley Tobacco Society are rapidly delivering their crops at the warehouse where it is to be inspected.

Jim McCarty and Tom Bryant, two white men and both employed at the same coal mines, in Daviess county, had a pistol duel last Friday night in which both were dangerously wounded. The trouble arose over family affairs.

Col. Phil B. Thompson, 88 years of age, and at one time Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky, died at his home in Harrodsburg last Saturday. He served one term as U. S. Senator, was a noted lawyer and a gallant ex-confederate soldier and was prominent both politically and socially in his younger days.

Tobacco Deal Closed.

The sale of Ohio county tobacco to the Imperial Tobacco Company, which was reported in these columns two weeks ago and which depended on samples to be furnished, has been closed at the price mentioned heretofore. Over one million pounds of tobacco will be delivered at the Equity warehouse in Hartford and the company has decided to rehandle all of this tobacco here, which will be a great thing for Hartford and vicinity, as it will give employment to a large force of hands until next fall. The factory will be open and ready to receive tobacco on Monday, Dec. 14.

HAS NOT SPOKEN IN THIRTY YEARS.

Young Man Jilted By Girl Has Since Abstained From Conversation.

Middletown, Pa., Dec. 1.—For thirty years Benjamin Landis, who lives with his mother in a modest little home two miles outside of this town, has not conversed with friends or relatives because, it is said, he was jilted by a girl whom he loved devotedly when a youth.

More than thirty years ago Ben Landis wooed Miss Fannie Gingerich who was then belle of the countryside and who married Harry Snively Landis was about eighteen years old. Apparently jilted, he tried to forget that there had lived such a girl as Fannie Gingerich, and he went West, hoping his affection might be lost in a mining camp or on a prairie ranch. For several years he lived near Kansas City, but finally he came East and returned to his mother near Middletown.

Love's flame had not died out but he was a far different Ben Landis from the one who went away a few years before. Relatives declared that "he became queer while in the West," but neighbors and friends say "it was the girl."

Withal, Landis confessed that the untoward culmination of his love affair had disheartened him. It was at this time in his life that he took the vow never again to hold a conversation with any one throughout the length of his life.

And he has lived up to this self-imposed "no-talk-for-life" sentence unflinchingly for thirty years. Now and then he mumbles a short sentence but his mother, Mrs. Catherine Landis with whom he has lived since he swore off talking says he never speaks to her.

Landis is picturesque in dress and features. He wears his hair a foot long and binds it under his coat. He never shaves, and his beard extends half way to his belt. It is thirty years since the hair or beard has been cut.

His only recreation is skating, and he is a prominent figure on Swatara creek almost any winter day.

To-day the woman whom Landis wooed is a widow. Her husband was killed on a railroad sixteen years ago. She lives with her parents near the Landis home, but Ben never speaks to her.

Afternoon Reception.

Mesdames E. W. Ford and John T. Moore received at Mrs. Moore's last Friday afternoon from 3 to 5 in honor of their sister, Mrs. W. D. Moore, Louisville.

Little Miss Mary Ellen Moore met the guests and ushered them into the parlors, where they were greeted by the hostess, the matron of honor, Mrs. W. H. Moore and Mrs. Martha A. Ross. About eighty guests called.

The dining room was tastefully and artistically decorated in large pink lavender chrysanthemums and ferns, and lighted by beautiful candelabra. Delightful cake and ices were served in the dining room, over which Little Miss Nancy Ford presided.

The matron of honor, a bride of a few weeks, was showered with congratulations and best wishes on her choice of one of Hartford's young men.

The guests at departing hoped to again meet the charming matron of honor, and thanked the hostess for so enjoyable a reception.

Night Riders Refuse to Allow Saw Mill to Operate.

Tiptonville, Tenn., Dec. 2.—Considerable excitement was created here this morning by a rumor of more night rider troubles or an outbreak of the old troubles in the lake region. The story was brought by a number of fishermen who lives on Caney Island and who came here to sell fish for the regular Saturday market.

They report that the pickets at a saw mill near Port Rankin or within a mile and a half of Samburg, were fired upon by night riders, but the fishermen did not know whether any of the men were shot or not. They said the shooting began at 10 o'clock last night, and continued with little interruption until 3 o'clock this morning. It seems that the owners of the saw mill attempted to resume operations at the mill last week, but were notified by night riders that they could not run the mill whereupon a detail of soldiers were placed on picket duty about the property. The men report that it sounded to them like at least fifty shotguns were being used in the fusillade.

The wires are all in trouble, and the story cannot be confirmed, but a party of the Tiptonville posse prepared at once to visit the scene and investigate the matter. Sheriff Hines is still in Nashville.

Election Contest Probable.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 1.—Work of investigating the charges of fraud in the Third district on behalf of Dr. A. D. James, the Republican candidate, has begun by Walker Wilkins of Central City, and the law firm of Sparks and Becher, of Greenville, and it is probable that James will contest the election of R. Y. Thomas, Jr., the Democrat who had a small majority on the face of the returns.

It is said that in Todd county notices were left in rural delivery boxes for negro voters warning them not to vote and signed "N. R." These will furnish one basis of contest.

Watch For the 1884 Trade Dollar.

The trade dollar has been vindicated. It is worth its weight in gold and a good deal more if it happens to be of the 1884 issue.

At an auction sale in the room of the Chicago Numismatic society last week one 1884 trade dollar was offered for sale. It was bought in by J. Breenner, DeKalb, who thought it a rare bargain at $2.90. Only five of the coins are in existence, so far as is known.

A copper cent of the date of 1799 is not to be sneezed at. Ben G. Green got one at the sale for $82.50 and appeared to be happy with his prize. Two other cents of the year 1856, with a flying design one copper and the other nickel, were purchased by Mr. Green for $31 and $37.50 respectively. These were said to be the highest prices on record for similar coins.

Handcuffs Unlocked to Allow Farewell to Girl.

To have the prettiest girl at "litteary" and then to be arrested on a charge sworn out nearly a year ago and to be compelled to get another man to take the girl home while he walked away between two policemen with handcuffs upon his wrists was the fate to-night of Claude Stephens of Galena says a Joplin dispatch.

Stephens was arrested by Constable Drane of Joplin and Leggett of Galena on the charge of forging a check upon J. S. Barnes at Galena, and a warrant for his arrest was sworn out December 13.

The "litteary" was held in a little schoolhouse with only one door. Drane entered and mingled with the crowd. He soon located Stephens and called him out. As soon as Stephens was outside he found himself under arrest and a pair of handcuffs being snapped on his wrists.

As the constable started to lead him away he brokenly pleaded to be allowed to see the girl and bid her good-by. His appeal finally won over Drane who unlocked the handcuffs and stood in the doorway while he bade the girl good-bye and arranged for another man to take her home in his buggy.

Ladies Social Club Meets.

On Wednesday afternoon the Ladies Social club enjoyed another one of its delightful entertainments with Mrs. J. S. Glenn and Mrs. J. C. Her at the lovely home of Mrs. Glenn. As a diversion from so much flitch and a source of much merriment in the room had been placed twenty illustrative numbers, objects taken for "Mother Goose" and when the guests had all arrived they were each given a card on which to write the correspondingly numbered answers as to whom these objects belonged. For example the pepper belonged to Peter Piper, the pumpkin to Peter Pumpkin eater, the staff to little Bo Peep and so on. When the ladies had done their best the correct answers were read by Mrs. Her and most every one found that some mistake had been made, although the objects were so appropriate. After this delightful and amusing features, punch was served, then tales were passed and all enjoyed a few games of flitch, after which a delightful lunch was served.

When the duties were brought in the ladies were asked to repeat a verse from "Mother Goose" that this special article might suggest. On repeating the proper verse they were immediately served. It is needless to say that Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Her are charming hostesses.

LOVERS MEET IN CHICAGO STORM

Accidently Knocks Girl Down-- Finds She is His Lost Fiance.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Wednesday's wind and rain storm was hailed as an anti-Thanksgiving day blessing by one couple, John J. Foley and Miss Josephine Barker, of Ohio. Through a collision on the sidewalk both were hurrying along with bent heads, each recognized in the other a childhood sweetheart whose parents had prevented a marriage. Each had been looking for the other for four years without success. Foley, who is employed in the printing plant of R. R. Donnelly, was walking hurriedly when he collided with and knocked down a young woman. He stooped to pick up the victim, and the eyes of both met. "Why Josephine," exclaimed Foley, "is that really you?" The young woman stammered. "Yes John, at last we have met. Foley accompanied Miss Barker to the residence of mutual friends, where the announcement was made that the long-delayed wedding would be celebrated in a short time. Miss Barker and Foley formerly lived in Windsor, Canada. When the young man was 19 year old and the young woman 17 years old both decided to marry. Their parents interfered, however, and the young woman was sent to Europe. Foley soon afterward came to Chicago.

Gets Permit to Hunt Instead of License to Wed.

A dispatch from Vandalla Ill contains the following strange story.—Overjoyed probably because of his approaching marriage, William Dively procured what he supposed was a marriage license but when the invited guests gathered at the home of Miss Mayme Augustine, West Vandalla, to witness her marriage to Dively Miss Augustine was compelled to tell her company the wedding would have to be postponed, all because her fiance, she said, had got a hunting permit instead of a marriage license.

Dively seeing the humiliation he had caused his intended wife and himself blamed the license clerk and declared he would make it hot for him. Starting out with this intention Dively soon ran amuck and was arrested by City Marshal Ray and locked up. After spending a night in Jail Dively repented and at the solicitation of his mother and the bride-to-be was released. He was taken before Police Magistrate Brown, where he pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace and was assessed a fine of $10 and costs.

Going from the Police Court, Dively accompanied by Miss Augustine, again applied to County Clerk Emerick, and this time procured the right kind of license. The couple appealed to Squire Brown for further relief. He pronounced them husband and wife.

Baby Dead in Mother's Arms.

Peduch, Ky., Dec. 2.—When Mrs. Ira Mathis, of 818 North Sixth street, with her baby in her arms, answered the front door bell this morning, her color was startled by the exclamation, "Oh, my baby is dead." An examination showed that the child in Mrs. Mathis' arms had been dead several hours. She had taken it up from the bed when she finished her morning's work and had not noticed that it was cold and stiff. The infant was several months old and apparently well last night.

Among the Lodges.

Do not forget the regular meeting of Hartford Lodge No. 675, F. & A. M., next Monday evening. There will be work in the second degree.

Hartford Chapter No. 86, Eastern Star will initiate two candidates at the next regular meeting, and will receive a number of petitions. Interest is growing in the work of the chapter.

Sunshine Hive, Lady Macabees, had an interesting meeting last Tuesday evening. They initiated two candidates into the mysteries of the order and afterward resolved the meeting into a tacky party. A number of interesting games were played which furnished amusement for the ladies until a late hour.

Rough River Lodge No. 110, K. of P. elected the following officers at the regular meeting last Tuesday evening, to serve for six months, beginning January 1st, 1909, Chancellor Command er E. B. Pendleton; Vice Chancellor E. P. Moore; Prelate, John T. Moore; Master at Arms, J. B. Tappan; Master of Work, R. D. Walker; Keeper of Records, and Seal, Roscoe Runder; Master of Finance, J. H. Williams; Master of Eschequer, George Lewis; Inside Guard, Jesse Hoover; Outside Guard, Berry L. Taylor, Member of Board of Control, S. T. Barnett. One petition for membership was received. All members are urged to attend the regular meeting next Tuesday evening.

Equity Banner Floats Over American Tobacco House.

Maysville, Ky., Nov. 30.—Every idle man in Maysville was put to work today at the plan of the American Tobacco Company for the work of re-handling, sampling and prizing 7,000 hogheads of the 1907 crop is in progress. In honor of the satisfactory settlement of all differences the banner of the Mason County Equity Society was hoisted over the big warehouse. Two months will be required in which to complete the task of delivering the tobacco.

Evangelist Casebler Writes.

I have just closed a good meeting at Mt. Zion church last Saturday which resulted in 11 professions of faith and some reclaimed.

I had with me Rev's R. T. Beck of McHenry and Miller of Butler county. The church was greatly revived and a general renovation of things in the community. Took $9.13 for district and state mission. The outlook is good for an evergreen Sunday school and a prayer meeting is needed which we think will be organized soon.

We found a good people in this part of the country, need to be educated up to the Masters work.

College News.

The following is the summary report of all teachers for the third school month: Total yearly enrollment, 273; total number of pupils in attendance during the month, 263; number of days taught, 20; total number of days attended by all pupils, 4,862; average number of days attended per pupil, 17.4; average number of pupils attending each day, 234; cases of tardiness, 42; cases of truancy, 1; cases of corporal punishment, 1; per cent. of attendance based on enrollment, 90; per cent of attendance based on belonging, 94. This is the best monthly report of this year; but there are two items especially, which should be so improved on as to render it unnecessary to mention them in a monthly report. The first is "cases of tardiness." There is no excuse for being tardy. Moreover, just a few pupils, and the same ones each month, make all the tardy marks. It seems to have become a habit already with a very few, and will, unless broken up, handicap them in life.

Grand Opening of the Bazaar.

Consider yourself invited to be present at the correctly constructed and considerably combined Calico Carnival to be held at the Bazaar Rooms, corner of Center street and Apple alley, Monday night, Dec. 7, 1908, under the auspices of the Sewing Circle of the M. E. Church. There will be for sale conspicuous courses served in confused compactness, and cunning calico conveniences that will be a constant comfort. N. B. Cash and coin carefully collected at the door, so observe the rules.

SCAFFOLD IN A NEGRO CHURCH

Three Blacks Hanged in Front Of Pulpit by Tennessee Mob.

Tiptonville, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Three dead bodies dangling from a scaffold erected in front of the pulpit of a negro church in District No. 4, this (Lake) county, five miles from this city, was the awful spectacle which greeted the crowd of curious people who gathered about the church this morning to view the work of the mob which took from the Tiptonville jail last night Marshall, Ed and Jim Stoneback the three negroes who shot and fatally wounded two Deputy Sheriffs in front of this same church last Saturday night.

The lynching of these negroes was planned with deliberation and executed with a gruesome coolness that has rarely been witnessed in the work of mobs. As a rule mobs act from the heat of passion aroused by the crime of the victims, but this mob went about its work with a cool deliberation unusual for its deed of plan, but nevertheless effective in its execution. All day yesterday this little city filled with an excited mob numbering anywhere from 150 to 500 men. This mob unlike others, however, seemed willing to listen to reason, and for some hours it was thought that the leaders had agreed to allow the law to take its course, and late in the afternoon the mob dispersed and the town assumed its usual quietness.

The negroes were arrested early in the morning and near Rodgeley and taken to Tiptonville and committed to jail. No sooner had this been accomplished than a mob of determined men began to gather and within an hour preparations to carry into execution the work of vengeance determined upon were well under way and the leaders began to gather their forces about them to make the assault on the jail.

The crowds, made up of determined and angry men, slowly surrounded the jail, but here it was met by one of the county's most prominent lawyers, Mr. J. T. Burnett, who made an impassioned address urging the mob to desist from any act of violence and promising to use his influence in seeing that the negroes got a speedy trial. This did not appeal to the mob and finally Mr. S. J. Caldwell, another lawyer, proposed that if the mob was determined to lynch the negroes to at least wait until even the semblance of a trial could be held, and he suggested that Justice Davis be authorized to summon a jury and let the negroes be duly sentenced to death, and then the mob could execute the sentence.

This was agreed to and the mob, except just enough to watch the jail and see that Sheriff Haines did not attempt to slip the negroes out and carry them to a place of safety, left the jail building to await the trial set for 5 o'clock in the afternoon. In the meantime after the story of the proposed lynching had been sent out and thus became known in Nashville, Mr. Haines and others received telegrams from Gov. Patterson pleading with them, "For God sake to prevent the proposed lynching as it would be a disgrace to the State." He also agreed to order a special term of the Criminal Court to try the negroes.

Sheriff Haines also communicated with Attorney General Caldwell, at Union City, and he in turn called up a number of men here including Cheek Fergus, father of Richard Rarrus, the special deputy killed by the negroes, and Mrs. Rarrus. After talking with Gen. Caldwell he said he was willing for the law to take its course, and he advised leaders of the mob to go home and let the negroes be tried in the regular way.

The men were finally taken from the jail by the mob, placed in a wagon and driven to the church where the negroes had committed their crime. Here the mob following out cold, calculating determination which had characterized all of its previous plans and proceeded just in front of the pulpit, to hang the three negroes were hanged, Marshall Stoneback the largest of the three brothers, being swung in the center of the team, with Ed and Jim Stoneback on either end.

After the negroes had been swung up a member of the mob stepped forward and fired a shot into the body of Marshall Stoneback, aiming at the exact spot in which the negro had shot Deputy Sheriff John Hall.

The mob then quietly dispersed.

Do You Think For Yourself?

Or do you open your mouth like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you?

There is an intelligent thinking woman in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest medicine of known composition, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, narcotics, harmful, or habit-forming drugs, and no agent enters into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and leading medical teachers and authorities of their several schools of practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised.

No other medicine for woman's ills has any such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has received, in the unqualified recommendation of each of its several ingredients by scores of leading medical men of all the schools of practice. Is such an endorsement worthy of your consideration?

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

noon. How the horses managed to avoid the openings between the rails and ties is a mystery, as in several places the ties are not securely spiked and have moved from their original position. The horses crossed safely and reached the mill end of the bridge without mishap. What made the undertaking particularly hazardous also is that the bridge is at least one block long and spans the river just where the falls and the current is very swift about the bridge. After getting his load of lumber the farmer was conducted to the highway and safely started home none the worse or apparently the wiser, as a result of his miraculous escape.

GAVE ENEMY ALL THE MONEY HE HAD.

A Story of the Civil War Concerning an Ohio County Man.

Last Monday's Owensboro Inquirer says:—The following incident is related by one of the old veterans of the Gray, and it illustrates the nobleness of character of the late Captain Shelby Hicks:

While the regiment to which Capt. Hicks' company was attached was stationed at Knoxville, Tenn., many Confederate soldiers were captured and brought into the headquarters of the Union army as prisoners of war. One night, Captain Hicks made the rounds of these prisoners with the query: "Is there a prisoner among you who is from Henderson or Davies county, Ky.?"

At last he came to John Moseley, of Whitesville, Davess county, who replied: "I am from Davess county. My name is John Moseley."

Captain Hicks grasped him warmly by the hand, and asked: "Have you any money?"

"Not a cent," was Moseley's reply. Making a dive into a pocket of his well worn uniform with one hand, Captain Hicks drew out a small roll of money and placed it in Moseley's hand and said:

"It is not much, but it is all I have. I wish I had more, and you should have it all. You must keep it. You are a prisoner and away from your regiment. You will need it worse than I."

The Confederate soldier, barefoot, and with tattered uniform, thanked his benefactor for his generosity. After the close of the war they both returned home, and were always the warmest friends. Mr. Moseley still survives and he feelingly tells the story of how he was befriended by Captain Shelby Hicks, who he says, was the biggest-hearted man he ever saw.

Captain Hicks was not a man to bear malice, and he loved his friends of the Confederate army none the less because of the differences which caused them to take up arms against each other.

Would Mortgage the Farm.
A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: I had one of the worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it. Only 25c. at all druggists.

THIS MAN IS A PUZZLE TO THE DOCTORS

Staten Island Physicians Marvel At Man Soon to Undergo More Surgery.

New York, Nov. 20.—William Smith is puzzling the medical fraternity of Staten Island. He is a patient in St. Vincent's hospital, West New Brighton. Within a year Smith has undergone fifteen operations, and he is now being prepared for a serious one. He is only thirty-eight years old, but his hair has turned white as snow.

Smith has been operated on for appendicitis, intestinal trouble and stomach trouble, has had his right foot and leg amputated and in the course of a few days will have his left foot taken off above the knee. By the time this has been done his right arm will be amputated and later his left arm will have to come off. He is suffering from tuberculosis of the bone.

When seen by a reporter yesterday, the patient was sitting outside the hospital smoking a cigarette, and told of the plans of his dismemberment. The surgeons have told him what he is to expect, and have consented to his walking around with cane and crutch, on his remaining foot unless he gets tired, and then they will amputate it. His right arm is swollen and gives him much pain.

"I cannot even pray, for when I kneel I get so sore that I fall over," he said. "I cannot sleep because of the terrible pains, and when I go to bed at night I turn and toss until morning. The surgeons are unable to diagnose my case correctly, each of them give a different opinion. The pains in my stomach are unbearable and they are caused, the medical men say by the numerous operations on my intestines."

"I hope to die when they are taking off my other leg, but if I live through that I will only have to prepare for more cutting."

Before going to the hospital Smith was neglected, having neither home nor friends, and he eked out a precarious existence for ten years. His remarkable vitality in recovering from the operations is therefore deemed marvelous by the physicians who have been interested in the case.

Had a Close Call.

Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the well known proprietor of the Croom Hotel Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. Now For Wireless Clocks.

To set the clocks of a big city by electrical waves and keep them uniform in time—this is the latest facility afforded to municipalities by a magician in the science of Marconis. The inventor is a Venetian, and his name is Franz Morawetz. He has been experimenting for some years, but it is only within recent days that he has thoroughly perfected his invention. Of first it was found that atmospheric upheavals and other disturbing factors rendered his process futile when at every moment in the day the receiving clock operated on by the transmitter was attuned to be action of the latter, the result being that high winds and great disturbances of the atmosphere the proper action and course of the electrical waves.

In the case of the present contrivance the objective clock is isolated during 58 seconds in each minute, in which time it is insensible to all emission of electrical currents. In the sixtieth second, however the receiving brought in to circuit with the transmitter. No two clocks travel at precisely the same speed, and since there must be a divergence from a given standard, the way directed from the transmitter of the central clock—the standard time—proceed to adjust the subjective time-teller to the standard of "headquarters," or the exact sun time. Should the wave, owing to interruption for any reason, fail to reach its objective clock at the right moment, the harm done in point time, would not be great. In fact, time would be untrue by only on sixtieth of a second, providing that in the previous minutes it had corresponded with headquarters. The time would, in any case be adjusted in the next transmission of waves, and the untruthful timepiece would come in line with the other clocks which were correct.

The electro-technical Institute of Vienna has adopted this method of looking after the clocks of the Austrian capital. Indeed the Municipal Council votes a yearly subvention of about $10,000 for the up-keep of the "central post," which radiates waves to a distance of nearly a mile in all directions over the city. The inventor holds, however, that his process could keep the clocks of a whole province in correct order. The clocks in question are of the ordinary mechanical kind, but each is fitted with a small and cheap apparatus which, receiving the electrical wave adjust the mechanism according to due requirements. The central or regulating clock is an electro mercury timepiece, which, at the required moments, discharges into the transmitter, or antenna, the electrical energy accumulated in a 100-jar battery.

Quick climatic changes try strong constitutions and cause, among other evils, nasal catarrh, a troublesome and offensive disease. Sneezing, snuffling, coughing and difficult breathing, and the drip, drip of the foul discharge into the throat—all are ended by Ely's Cream Balm. This honest remedy contains no cocaine, mercury, nor other harmful ingredient. The worst cases yield to treatment in a short time. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

In Memory.

Died at her home at McHenry, Ky., November 18, 1903, Mrs. Arbie Tinsley, wife of Geo. Tinsley, aged 44 years and seven months.

She was an invalid twenty years and bore up under severe physical afflictions with a fortitude that was the wonder of those who knew her. Her married life lasted but two months of 25 years. Her devotion to her family knew no limit but the Divine. She fulfilled the law of Christ in that she visited the sick and the afflicted and shared their sufferings and sorrow.

She was in the meridian of life. She did not want to die. She shed bitter tears at the thought of the separation that soon must be. But she said she was fully prepared to meet Him who has plucked out the sting of death and scorn the grave of victory.

The blessed, sainted spirit has gone back to Him who gave it and though a sad, sad heart will often find relief in copious gushing tears, it will not be the tears of a mourning heart. That heart will rejoice in His matchless name who does all things well. The Rev. H. P. Brown preached the funeral after which the remains were interred in Walton's Creek cemetery.

J. P. Taylor, &c., on Motion for Ditch.

Mr. E. S. McMillan, of Centertown, was awarded the contract last Wednesday at one o'clock p. m. at the Court House door in Hartford, for digging the ditch in the above styled action, he being the lowest and best bidder. The ditch is 3018 feet in length and is to be 20 feet wide and the depth runs from one foot and four inches to five feet and three inches. The price bid was 23 cts. per cubic yard and this being within the 25 per cent limit, the commissioners having put the price at 20 cts. per cubic yard, Mr. McMillan was awarded the contract. We are informed work will be begun at once. The ditch is located near Beaver Dam.

ONE MAN TOWN'S BUSINESS MANAGER.

Staunton, Virginia, Hires a Capable Man to Attend to Its Business

An instructive experiment in municipal administration is under way in Staunton, Va., a city of 12,000 inhabitants, where the local authorities have entrusted the job of running the town to a business manager. The city retains the form of political organization required by law, and is governed from a legal standpoint by a mayor and city council. These officers, however, have delegated the purely business functions of local administration to the business manager, elected by them for a period of one year and directly responsible to them. He is given a free hand in buying city supplies and in making municipal contracts. Every three months he submits a report to the council, as a board of directors, and his acts are passed upon, usually with approval. He suggests such legislation as is required to authorize his projects. In brief, his position is practically the same as that of the general manager of a large business corporation.

Staunton's business manager has been in office since last April. Since that time he has evidently made good for after having given him a term of one year, the council has re-elected him for another term. He has saved money to the taxpayers, according to his own statement, and given them an economical and efficient service. For one thing he was able to place contracts for granite paving at 71 cents a square yard instead of the $2 the council was paying prior to his appointment. These results are analogous to those accomplished by the commission plan of government in other cities. As everyone knows, the difficulty of converting a municipal administration into a purely business proposition is that local government is a political as well as a business affair, and the two things cannot be legally separated. The Virginia town seems to have overcome this difficulty by the simple expedient of employing an officer to conduct the purely business part of the local administration, while the political functions are retained in the city officials regularly chosen by the people in accordance with the State constitution and laws—Washington Herald.

Obituary.

In remembrance of our darling. The death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Holland and took from it their dear little Elton. She was born March 13, 1907, and died October 29, 1908. Her remains were laid to rest in the Mt. Hermon graveyard to wait the judgment day. She leaves a father, mother and two brothers besides a host of friends to mourn her death.

She is not dead; 'twas but the solemn stillness, the playful folding of the hands to rest, the closing of the eyes in gentle slumber. Farewell, we meet no more on this side of heaven, the parting scene is over, the last sad word is given.

Written by its Aunt. ESSIÉ.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constant failing to cure with local treatment pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. ### A Costly Campaign.

They have a law in Georgia now that requires every candidate to file a schedule of his expenses in running for a nomination for an office. A candidate in the recent primaries, therefore, publishes the following list of expenditures:

"Lost 4 months and 23 days canvassing; 1,349 hours thinking about the election; 5 acres of cotton; 23 acres of corn; a whole sweet potato crop; 4 sheep; 5 shoats and 1 beef given to a barbecue; 2 front teeth and a considerable quantity of hair in a personal skirmish; gave 97 plugs of tobacco; 7 Sunday school books; 2 pairs of suspenders; 4 calico dresses; 7 dolls; 13 baby rattles. "Told 2,889 lies; shook hands

23,475 times; talked enough to have made in print 1,000 large volumes the size of patent office reports; kissed 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; cut three cords of wood; pulled 473 bundles of fodder; picked 774 pounds of cotton; helped pull 7 loads of corn; dug 14 bushels of potatoes; toted 27 buckets of water; put up 7 stoves; was hit 4 times; watch broken by baby, cost $3 to have repaired.

"Loaned out 3 barrels of flour; 50 bushels of meal; 150 pounds of bacon; 37 pounds of butter; 12 dozen eggs; 3 umbrellas; 13 lead pencils; 1 Bible dictionary; 1 mow blade; 5 hoes; 1 overcoat; 5 boxes paper collars, none of which have been returned.

"Called my opponent a perambulating liar—doctor's bill $10. Had 5 arguments with my wife—result: One flower vase smashed; 1 broom handle broken; 1 dish of hash knocked off the table; 1 shirt bosom ruined; 2 handfuls of whiskers pulled out; 10 cents worth of sticking plaster bought, besides spending $1,778."

Thus is the doctrine of publicity vindicated is the most ample manner.

FULTON FRENCH HAS JOINED THE CHURCH.

Noted Feud Leader Hears Eloquent Sermon By Noted Divine.

Under the preaching of Rev. J. W. Porter of this city, who is conducting a revival at the First Baptist Church in Winchester, B. Fulton French joined the Baptist church Wednesday night and there was great rejoicing.

Though now a prominent attorney and thrifty citizen, Mr. French was in his younger days leader of the French faction in the French-Eversole feud in Eastern Kentucky in which many men were killed. He was also charged with being implicated with the gangsters in the Breathitt county assassinations but was acquitted. He long since laid down the post of chief of a clan, but was never brought into the Shepherd's fold until Dr. Porter converted him.

The church was filled to its capacity and the baptism of French was accompanied by the soulful singing of the hymn, "Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow."

Into the dim and distant future I stand and gaze with eager eye, Waiting for the joy and gladness Promised in the bye and bye.

I have grown weary of starlight, Of waiting for the daylight to dawn, Heart-sick and tired of night-time; I long for the light of the morn!

Sometimes when weary with waiting, And I grope in the slough of despair, My hope mounts high like the eagle, With swift pinions beating the air.

And when amid all the deep darkness That circles my impatient soul, A ray of sunshine falls softly, My trembling heart grows bold.

Then I would leave the star-lit valley And climb to the hill-top above, To live forever in the Sunlight, The beautiful sunlight I love.

WOMAN IS RETIRED ON A PENSION.

Mrs. Randle Managed Cumberland Office at Hopkinsville Thirty-Five Years.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 25.—Mrs. Mattie P. Randle, who for thirty-five years and three months has held the position of local manager for the Western Union Telegraph Company, has been notified by the company that she is to be retired on a pension in acknowledgment of her long and faithful service, and that Miss Katherine Mitchell, of Bennington Kan., will take charge of the office here on December 1. In his letter J. R. Terhune, superintendent of this division, says: "We desire to thank you for your long and faithful services and trust that the relief from the burden and cares of the office will be of benefit to you."

Mrs. Randle who was then Miss Mattie Parks, came here from LaVergne, Tenn. in September, 1873, and took charge of the office more as an experimenter than anything else. She became fascinated with the work, though and remained in charge throughout the succeeding years. In 1875 she was married to W. F. Randle, a citizen of this place. During her thirty-five year of service Mrs. Randle has handled more than a million messages, some of them of the most secret nature, but never once has she violated the confidence reposed in her, this in itself being no small item of her business.

Since she began her work she has seen

Hopkinsville grow from a comparatively small town into a bustling and aggressive little city of 13,000 inhabitants and has seen the steady march of progress during the years. In the capacity of messenger boys in her office, many of the foremost citizens have received their first lesson in business. Among these was John Feand, Representative in the last Legislature, Jim Edward and Richard Boyd all successful business men, of Denison, Tex., now served under her, as did many others.

THE JOKER NUGGET.

An Incident of the Early Australian Gold Diggings.

Among the rich finds in the Australian gold diggings the Joker nugget ranks among the chief. It turned the scale at thirty ounces and was sold for $600. In size and shape it resembled a man's hand, thick at the wrist part and tapering off toward the fingers. The claim had been a good one from the first, and the owner did not have to work hard. One day he was reclining full length idly searching for nuggets when he caught sight of the Joker. He at once covered it with his hand and sat up, rather wondering how he would secure the treasure without being seen. If the find became known every man in the field would tramp to the spot and invade his claim and so prevent him working. A man in an adjoining claim looked up. "Found anything?" he asked. "No. Seen the color—that's all. Pitch my coat over to me, will you? It's lying near there. I want a smoke." "Here you are, mate. But what's the matter? You look pale. Don't you feel right?" "I'm all right, only the sun is a bit hot." He was struggling with an insane desire to laugh, but he got his coat over the nugget and seated himself on the top of it. Then laughter overpowered him, and he became hysterical. Those about him wondered, but thought the sun had affected him. In a little while he gained his composure and decided to go to his tent. In lifting his coat he managed to take up the lump of gold, and no one knew that he had found anything. It was not until ten days had passed that the fact was noised abroad, and even then few knew the claim whence the Joker came.

PASSING IT ON.

Presence of Mind in an Unpleasant Situation.

Greatness is thrust upon some individuals, patriotism on others. When the patriotism does not belong to one's own country the situation may prove embarrassing. Such it was in the case of Agostino Polidori, the great-grandfather of Dante Gabriel Rossetti. The incident is given in a life of the poet by his brother. Polidori, an Italian, was in Paris at the taking of the Bastille in 1789. He tells the story of his unexpected prominence and his exaltation from the uncomfortable position.

I was passing by the Palais Royal while the populace was running to assault the fortress, and, having encountered a highly powdered wig-maker with a rusty sword raised aloft, I, not expecting any such thing and hardly conscious of the act, had the sword handed to me as he cried aloud:

"Take it, citizen! Fight for your country!"

I had no fancy for such an enterprise, so, finding myself sword in hand, I at once cast about for some way to get rid of it, and, bettering my instruction from the man of powder, I stuck it into the hand of the first unarmed person I met.

"Take it, citizen!" I repeated. "Fight for your country!" Then I passed on and returned home.

A Star on Stars.

He was one of the leading actors of America—of international fame—and he was talking of guard.

"Women certainly have the best of it on the stage," he said, "although they may not always think so. Whatever a man attains in the dramatic profession he must toil for, but a woman with a little bit of talent can make a hit, if she has a pretty face or figure, that will place her in a brief time and almost without labor in a position of financial independence, to say nothing of being a popular idol. No; I trust I'm not envious, but sometimes I feel a bit discouraged when I contrast my years of toil with the hop, skip and jump that lands a round faced girl at the front."—New York Press.

A Contrast.

In the Bank of England's museum may be seen the old oak chest, which was the old lady of Threadneedle street's first strong room. It is a little larger than a common seaman's chest, and in this the bank stored its cash, notes and valuable papers. Today the strong room is a formidable looking object, built of armor plate, boasts of huge doors that weigh many tons and represents the latest skill and science of the engineer and locksmith.—London Queen.

Proof That Dreams Come True.

"Yes'm, I'm goin' to move tomorrow," said Bertha, the colored washerwoman. "Yes'm, I knowed it last week. I dreamt it. Whenevah I begins to dream of packin' my trunk and gettin' ready to go, somehow the landlady he comes the v'y nex' week to the rent. Yes'm, I'm goin' to move to-morrow."—New York Press.

His Logic.

The Angry Mother—You've got an awful nerve to ask me to give you back your ball when you nearly killed one of my children with it. The Boy—Well, ma'am, you've got ten children, and we've got only one ball.—Chicago Tribune.

Manufacturing Chords.

"How is your daughter getting on?" "Splendidly. She's busy just now at Beethoven's works."

"What is it—one of those pottery places?"—Boston Transcript.

It Surely Does.

Bacon—The hen is a coward. It never comes up to the scratch. Egbert—Well, it comes up to the place where the scratch is going to be, all right.—Yonkers Statesman.

A Practical Joke.

He was a wag and was passing a large draper's shop in Manchester. There, drawn up, were three or four vehicles, and among them was a close brougham with the driver fast asleep on the box. Evidently the mistress was inside the shop. Without a word the wag stole quickly up and, opening the carriage door, carefully slammed it to.

In an instant the coachman straightened himself up and gazed on the street as if he had never seen anything more interesting to look at in his life. Then he stole a look over his shoulder and saw the wag standing, hat in hand, apparently conversing with some one inside the carriage.

"Thank you, yes. Good morning," said the practical joker, and bowed himself gracefully away from the door, turning as he did so to look at the coachman and say, "Home!"

"Yes, sir! Tch! Get up!" And away went the brougham home.

Where that home was, who the mistress of the carriage was or what she did or said when she came out of the shop or what the coachman did or said when he stopped at the door of "home" and found the carriage empty—all that only the coachman and the lady know.—London Tit-Bits.

A Beggar in a Basket.

Perhaps the most curious use to which Mexicans put their baskets is to hold gamecocks. Sometimes the cock's basket is woven for the purpose; often it is made from a sombrero, the wide, high crowned, straw hat of the country, into which the bird is put, a hole cut in the crown to give him air and the brim carefully tied down that he may not escape. The bullfight has been called the national sport of Mexico, but cockfighting is much more universal, for the humblest peasant may have his gamecock, which he keeps in a carefully made cage in his patio, watches with pride and tends with care.

One of the strangest uses to which a basket has probably ever been put was the daily appearance in the streets of a young man carrying in a huge bushel basket on his shoulders his great-grandmother, of unknown age, who held out a skinny hand to the passer-by for the centavo which was almost unobtainable. Surely a trust in Providence could go no further.—Eleanor Hope Johnson in Outing Magazine.

Dreams of the Blind.

In my dreams I have sensations, odors, tastes and ideas which I do not remember to have had in reality. Perhaps they are the glimpses which my mind catches through the veil of sleep of my earliest babyhood. I have heard "the tramping of many waters." Sometimes a wonderful light visits me in sleep. Such a flash and glory as it is! I gaze and gaze until it vanishes. I smell and taste much as in my waking hours, but the sense of touch plays a less important part. In sleep I almost never grope. No one guides me. Even in a crowded street I am self-sufficient, and I enjoy an independence quite foreign to my physical life. Now I seldom spell on my fingers, and it is still rarer for others to spell into my hand. My mind acts independent of my physical organs. I am delighted to be thus endowed, if only in sleep, for then my soul does its winged sandals and joyfully joins the throng of happy beings who dwell beyond the reaches of bodily sense.—Helen Keller in Century.

The Cheerful Undertaker.

A most amusing thing occurred one evening upon our arrival at a small town in New Zealand. We found awaiting us at the station the local carriage and pair, with the local undertaker as footman. He was garbed in his usual funeral suit of black, but he had substituted a white tie in order to relieve the situation somewhat, and, evidently with a desire to dispel any morbid impressions he might otherwise have created, he commenced to whistle a selection of the most cheerful tunes he knew, while he held the door open for us and helped us into the carriage.—Clara Butt in Musical Home Journal.

Cashing Up.

"Have you ever played poker with your son-in-law?" "Only once," answered Mr. Cumrox. "It wasn't very satisfactory." "Did he win?" "No; he lost. But it merely resulted in my having to write him a check so that he could indorse it over to me."—Washington Star.

A Slander.

Member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—Did you write this notice of my lecture on "The Demon Rum?" Editor—Yes, madam. Member of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union—Then I would like to know what you mean by saying, "The lecturer was evidently full of her subject."—Judge.

Lucky.

Rustic—What's the matter? Motorist—Matter! I can't get this car to go. Rustic—Then it's the lucky man you are, for just yesterday a motorist got nearly smashed to bits here because he couldn't get his car to stop.

Her Dig.

Miss Antiqua—Just think of the nerve of that impudent fellow to propose to me! Miss Caustique—Nerve? Why, it was absolute recklessness.—Milwaukee News.

Considerate.

Jasper—Whenever a great man dies, Longhair writes a poem about him. Jasper—Well, I must commend his consideration in not writing it before the great man dies.—Boston Globe.

A Japanese Wooing.

Last Saturday in early p. m. I make a very stylish appearance to my clothes which include frockaway coat, Derby hat, respectful gloves and whatever shoes and socks are necessary for most beautiful way to look. With such ornaments I could not wear my familiar necktie which are getting too shabby; so I borrow one of angry red complexion from Arthur Kikahajama who was not there when I took it.

With them fashionable heberdash I make my joyful footprints go in direction of sidewalk where all Japanese want see me revoke: "Where would Hashinura Togo go so completely decorated?" But for answer I make American eye-winky and nothing else.

Pretty soon I arrive by door-pat of Yoshinaka Suki, Japanese carpenter, and there I go rap-tap with nervous knuckles. After deliciously long time Miss Evelyn Suki-dreamy lady of entire youthfulness, come to knob and look surprised because she expect it was me.

"Kind morning, Mr. Togo," she say with deceptive expression of a female: "which of my Parents did you come to see?"

"How many of them Parents have you got please?" I remove with polite Derby.

"I got two to include 1 Mother and 1 Father, both enjoying nice health," she response.

"You are fortunate to have so many. I corrode, therefore permit them to enjoy their nice health without disturb from us."

She do so thank you.

We set in parlor and have a few conversations and occasional topics. I get more charms each moment by her sweet looks and cowwattish smiles. I could throb forever and such lonesome company.

In Memory

On last Thursday morning the doors of heaven opened and an angel visited the earth and claimed for its own, Ruth Pearl Edwards. She was 3 years and 14 days old. She was sick only a short time. She leaves a father, mother and two little sisters and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. Weep not dear parents for little Pearl; give her up but Gods will be done. Not out and our loss is heavens gain. Let us not think her dead, but only sleeping; let us all live so that when come to die our souls will be as pure and white as little Pearl's.

We loved this little tender one And would have wished her stay, But our Father will be done She shines in endless day.

The golden gates were open wide A gentle voice said come And angels from the other side Welcomed our loved one home.

Remembered His Nurses

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Three graduates of the Illinois Training School for Nurses will receive legacies left them by Walter E. Ammon, a former patient.

The nurses and the amounts left to them are: Miss Nellie G. Miller, $500; Miss Freda B. Phelps, $500; Miss Alice L. Voight, $1,500.

Mr. Ammon was a manufacturer of butterine in Jersey City, N. J. Six years ago he came West on a business trip and while at the Auditorium Hotel in this city became ill with typhoid fever. Miss Miller was called in by Drs. J. B. Herrick and Frank Billings, who were attending him. The patient was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital where he was attended for three months by the other two nurses. After his recovery he showed his gratitude by sending presents to each of the nurses at Christmas and other times, but none of them expected to be remembered in his will.

Work as Punishment.

Unless a mother wants to heap up trouble for herself and the child now and later on it is better never to punish by making the culprit perform a certain amount of work, says Hilda Richmond in the Housekeeper. There are mothers who keep certain disagreeable tasks for little sinners, just as some cities compel their offenders against public peace to repair roads or break stones. This is risky business, since it gives the child the impression that it is a misfortune to have to work.

A grown man says he hates the very sight of an onion bed because his mother made him weed the tiny plants every time he was naughty when he was a child. Onion weeding is tedious, back-breaking work at best but when it is done as a punishment it becomes horrible. A bright penny, a special treat in the way of a big orange or a trip to the pond to fish would have sent the boy whistling to the onion bed determined to conquer or die, but to be chained there, so to speak, with a smarting sense of his woes makes him recall those days yet.

Some mothers put the little girls to patchwork when they are restless and in mischief, but the only thing accomplished is to make the little fingers loathe the needlework. I have seen rebellious little girls making buttonholes all over a piece of old goods as punishment for some wrongdoing. The work was wasted because the mother threw it in the waste basket the minute she was satisfied with the effort, and the children only turned out good work in order to be released.

Solitary idleness is better than work as punishment. Often when left to themselves the children would gladly take their books or work but they always resent being ordered to work to atone for their sins. A long, quiet think will make them penitent, while hard work only makes them feel injured and gives them the lasting impression that all work is disgraceful.

Robbers in Disguise

Chicago, Nov. 26.—Two robbers, one of them disguised as the head of the family so as to deceive the mistress of the house, invaded the residence of William Goes, in Washington Heights yesterday. They overpowered Mrs. Goes tied her to a chair and chloroformed her, after which they looted the house at their pleasure.

After the thieves had made good their escape, Mrs. Goes remained unconscious for an hour and a half. She is seriously ill as a result of inhaling the drug.

The robbery was the boldest and most ingenious that has come to the attention of the police in some time. It is the first visit of thieves to "Millionaires' Hill," as that quarter of Washington Heights is known, since the killing of a burglar by a citizen several years ago.

The robbers spent nearly an hour ransacking the rooms, and found $190 in cash.

When Harry, the twelve-year-old son, returned from school and discovered his mother's plight, he cut the ropes that bound her and released the chloroform soaked handkerchief and he and his fourteen-year-old sister succeeded in restoring their mother to consciousness.

The Tariff Hearings.

The developments thus far in the Tariff hearings of the House Committee on Ways and Means do not promise well for the hopes and expectations of "reformers." On the contrary, they indicate revision along strict Protection lines. The great bulk of the testimony emphasizes the desire among domestic producers that either the rates shall remain as they are or that in some cases they shall be increased. Ample grounds for this contention have been cited by the witnesses. Additional grounds would be cited if the committee had granted more time for preparation and larger opportunities for the presentment of facts. The hearings are useful and instructive so far as they go, but they are a long way from being thorough and exhaustive. Further hearings will be demanded, we think, when the new Congress shall have assembled in extra session and they should be granted. The Senate Committee on Finance will hold Tariff hearings of its own, and these will afford American producers added opportunities to submit their claims and wishes. The Senate has a habit of proceeding slowly and cautiously matters of grave import. We do not think that any Tariff revision bill will or can be rushed through the Senate on a limited express time table.

$8.50 HEDGETHORN PUNCTURE-PROOF $4.80
SELF-HEALING TIRES A SAMPLE PAIR TO INTRODUCE, ONLY

The regular retail price of these tires is $12.50 per pair, but to introduce we will sell you a sample pair for $4.80 (cash with order $4.55).

NO MORE TROUBLE FROM PUNCTURES

NAILS, Tacks or Glass will not let the air out. Sixty thousand pairs sold last year. Over two hundred thousand pairs now in use.

DESCRIPTION: Made in all sizes. Relatively and carrying very durable and lined inside with a special quality of rubber, which never becomes porous and which closes up small punctures without allowing the air to escape. We have hundreds of letters from satisfied customers stating that their tires have never been pumped up once or twice in a whole season. They weigh no more than an ordinary tire, the puncture resisting qualities being given by several layers of this, specially prepared fabric on the tread. The regular price of these tires is $12.50 per pair, but for advertising purposes we are making a special factory price to the rider of only $4.80 per pair. All orders shipped same day letter is received. We ship C. O. D. on approval. You do not pay a cent until you have examined and found them strictly as represented.

We will allow a cash discount of 5 per cent (thereby making the price $4.55 per pair) if you send FULL CASH WITH ORDER and enclose this advertisement. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be as well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

IF YOU NEED TIRES Hedgethorn Puncture-Proof tires on approval and trial at the special introductory price quoted above, or write for our big Tire and Sundry Catalogue which describes and quotes all makes and kinds of tires at about half the usual prices. We will also send one nickel plated brass hand pump. Tires to be returned at OUR expense if for any reason they are not satisfactory on examination. We are perfectly reliable and money sent to us is as safe as in a bank. If you order a pair of these tires, you will find that they will ride easier, run faster, wear better, last longer and look finer than any tire you have ever used or seen at any price. We know that you will be as well pleased that when you want a bicycle you will give us your order. We want you to send us a trial order at once, hence this remarkable tire offer.

DO NOT WAIT or a pair of tires from anyone until you know the new and wonderful offers we are making. It only costs a postal to learn everything. Write it NOW.

FROM LEFT TO RIGHT.

Is the Habit a Legacy From the Old Sun Worshipers?

The halfback, about to be tackled, stopped, then darted in a long curve toward the right. He was soon downed.

"The other side knew he would turn from left to right," said a veteran. "We all turn from left to right. To turn from right to left seems wrong, seems like reversing. We wind a watch from left to right, we turn a screw so, and so we write, and so we read."

"It all comes down to us from prehistoric times, from the sun worshipers. The sun moves from left to right, and its worshipers believed that all human actions must proceed accordingly. Well, they still do so."

"Churning is done as the sun moves, and there's a superstition that one reverse turn of the handle will spoil the butter."

"Cooks stir batter from left to right. A reversal, they say, would make the batter coarse and heavy."

"In a subconscious way, you see, sun worship is still the religion of man."—Exchange.

THE CANNON ROARED.

How an Ovation by a Youthful Demosthenes Was Spoiled.

While campaigning in his home state Speaker Cannon was once inveigled into visiting the public schools of a town where he was billed to speak.

In one of the lower grades an ambitious teacher called upon a youthful Demosthenes to entertain the distinguished visitor with an exhibition of amateur oratory. The selection attempted was Byron's "Battle of Waterloo," and just as the boy reached the end of the first paragraph Speaker Cannon suddenly gave vent to a violent sneeze.

"But hush, hark," declaimed the youngster—"a deep sound strikes like a ringing knell! Did ye hear it?"

The visitors smiled, and a moment later the second sneeze—which the speaker was vainly trying to hold back—came with increased violence.

"But hark!" bawled the boy—"that heavy sound breaks in once more, and nearer, clearer, deadlier than before! Arm! Arm! It is the cannon's opening roar!"

This was too much, and the laugh that broke from the party swelled to a roar when Uncle Joe chuckled: "Put up your weapons, children. I won't shoot any more."—Success Magazine.

The Division of Time.

The division of time into hours was practiced among the Babylonians from remote antiquity, but it was Hipparchus, the philosopher, who introduced the Babylonian hour into Europe. The sexagesimal system of notation was chosen by that ancient people because there is no number having so many divisions as sixty. The Babylonians divided the daily journey of the sun, the ruler of the day, into twenty-four parasangs. Each parasang, or hour, was subdivided into sixty minutes, and that again into sixty seconds. They compared the progress made by the sun during one hour at the time of the equinox to the progress made by a good walker in the same period of time, both covering one parasang, and the course of the sun during the full equinoctial day was fixed at twenty-four parasangs.

Kissing the Hands.

The practice of kissing the hands was instituted by the early Roman rulers as a mark of subjection as much as one of respect, and under the first Caesars the custom was kept up, but only for a time. These worthies conceived the idea that the proper homage due to their exalted station called for less familiar modes of obeisance, so the privilege of kissing the emperor's hand was reserved as a special mark of condescension or distinction for officers of high rank. Roman fathers considered the practice of kissing of so debase a nature that they never kissed their wives in the presence of their daughters.

What She Inherited.

"Of course I can do manuevering just as well with my left hand," said the left-handed manicurist—"better, if anything. You don't know the difference if you've been born that way. If you have inherited it."

"Didn't know it was a matter of inheritance? Why, certainly it is. No, left-handedness, not manuevering. My father, grandfather and great-grandfather were all left handed, and so was ten cousins of mine."—Exchange.

Happy Hunting Ground.

Not a Free Agent.

Rocker—While the mattress, bolster and pillow are worn on the head.—New York Sun.

He who can conceal his joys is greater than he who can hide his griefs.—Lavater.

Cooking With Sunlight.

Sun cooking—roasting and boiling by sunlight instead of coal or gas—has been going on for 300 years. There are sun stoves that roast a sirloin or boil a soup to perfection. They are only used, however, by scientists. A sun stove consists mainly of a mirror—a spherical mirror on a joint. There is also a reflector. The place for pot or plate is so situated that the mirror's rays can be focused on it accurately. A German, Baron Tchernhausen, was the first sun cook. He began in 1837 to boil water, and in 1838 he had very good success at baking eggs. Sir John Herschel and Buffon are other famous names associated with sun cooking. In California various sun cooks have boiled a gallon of water in twenty minutes, roasted meat in two hours and poached eggs in fifteen minutes—quite as good time as the ordinary fire makes. An odd thing about meat roasted by sun rays is that it has an unpleasant taste. This is avoided by the insertion of a plate of yellow glass between meat and mirror. In all solar stoves the sheet of yellow glass figures.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Queer English Laws.

"No statute law of England ever can be obsolete," a legal journal says. "Once enacted, it continues in binding force until repealed."

If such be really the case, there ought to be some lively times ahead for several classes of the community. For instance, what will builders have to say to the act which penalizes any person who erects a house without attaching to it at least four acres of land? This was one of "good Queen Bess'" laws, and it has most certainly never been repealed.

By another unrepealed statute, which dates back to the first year of King James I., it is enacted that not more than a penny may be charged for a quart of the best old ale nor more than a halfpenny for a like quantity of small beer. The penalty for each infraction of the act is 20 shillings, so that if it were rigidly enforced it would not need, apparently, a licensing bill to ruin the brewers. Then, again, a Catholic owning a horse is still legally obliged to sell it for £5 to anybody who chooses to offer that sum for it.—London Graphic.

The First Mourning Paper.

The oldest known letter written on black edged note paper as a sign of mourning appears to be one dated Jan. 5, 1683. In Addison's comedy of "The Drummer," 1715, reference is made to the fashion in the words, "My lady's mourning paper that is blacked at the edges." A few years later Allan Ramsay, who died in 1758, speaks in one of his poems of "the sable bordered sheet" as a messenger of sorrow. Mann, writing from Italy to Horace Walpole in 1745, says that it was universally used in Florence at that time. The superior elegance of this Italian note paper, with its narrow margin of black, explains its ready acceptance in this country, where it superseded the quarto sheet with a black border sometimes a quarter of an inch wide. In this way it probably gave an impetus to the fashion. But it is a mistake to suppose, as some have done, that the fashion was introduced from Italy.—London Answers.

Caught Alive.

A New Yorker, a big game hunter of many years' experience, was lion shooting in Uganda. He had excellent luck. Nearly every day he posed in a complacent attitude beside a freshly killed lion, and his photographer snapped him for the magazines.

One afternoon the photographer, who was taking a nap in the hut, was awakened by a loud noise. He rose and looked out. Sprinting toward him from the jungle, hat gone and coat-tails flying, came his chief, and, with terrible roars and growls, a huge lion bounded at his heels.

The photographer gazed spellbound at the strange and exciting picture. His chief, perceiving him, shouted: "Quick, quick! Open the door. George! I'm bringing him home alive!"—Washington Star.

Spoiling a Tragedy.

"If you don't marry me," he said desperately, "I shall kill myself."
"And write a note telling all about it?" queried the maid.
"Yes."
"And hold my photograph in your other hand?"
"I had thought about it."
"Well, just wait a minute," she said. "And I'll borrow pa's pistol for you. My, but won't it be romantic?"
But he faded.

The Head of the House.

It is folly to call the husband the head of the house; he is not. It is but a courtesy title at best, since in truth he is but an incident in the home life, while the wife and mother is its whole existence. Literally the sun of domestic happiness rises and sets in the face of the wife and mother.—Clara Morris in Housekeeper.

Not an Advertiser.

"Did you hang up any mistletoe last Christmas?" asked Erastus Pinkley.
"Deed I didn't," answered Miss Miami Brown. "I's got a little too much pride to advertise for de ordinary courtesies dat a lady has a right to expect."—Exchange.

Suspicious.

Widow (at wash tub)—Are you positive you love me?
Sutor—Of course I am.
Widow—What's the matter? You haven't lost your job, have you?—Pittsburg Press.

Too much is worse than want.—German Proverb.

What He Wanted.

"You are a poor young man?"
"I am."
"Then what you want is a thrifty, economical wife."
"Not at all. What I want is a rich, liberal wife."

In Luck.

"It's no fun being married. My wife is coming to me all the time and asking for money!"
"You're lucky! I have to ask my wife always for money when I want any!"

When a man likes to see how near the edge he can walk without falling over, there is only one thing that will cure him—falling over.—Aitchison Globe.

New Assistant Mine Inspector.

Governor Wilson has appointed Mr. Hugh D. Jones, of Central City, assistant Mine Inspector for Kentucky. There were many applications for the position and the appointment has been held up for several months, during which time the claims of each applicant were considered. We understand Mr. Jones is well qualified, and will make a good official. However, we would have been glad to have seen some Ohio County miner get this plum, as we have so far not been recognized in the appointments under the State administration.

Notice.

All persons having claims against the estate of Martha J. Jones, deceased will present them to me properly proven on or before January 1st, 1909, or they will be forever barred.
